Need additional space for your stock?

Carrs Billington purchase Aganto temporary building for additional storage

Wholesaler Carrs Billington specialises in the trade of products and services for the UK's rural and farming communities. Throughout the years, their trading has excelled along with their product offerings.

Carrs Billington offers a wide range of diverse products to accommodate their customer's needs and, at their Lancaster site, they needed additional storage space to house their animal feed products.

Solution:

In the search for an effective solution for their overflowing stock, they contacted Aganto for a temporary warehouse structure. To identify the size and location of the temporary building, Aganto Sales Director, David Duxbury, conducted a free site visit. With the building requirements confirmed, Carrs Billington proceeded with the purchase of a non-insulated temporary warehouse.

Aganto installed a 7.5m x 20m x 4.2m single-skin temporary structure with side mounted roller shutter door and a single pedestrian access door. Constructed to the temporary building were PVC gables and guttering, and to complete the warehouse, Aganto supplied an electric and light fit-out.

The temporary building has enabled Carrs Billington to benefit from the extra storage space, increasing product storage capacity. This has improved operations within the facility, allowing them to cater to more customer agricultural needs.
