Upgrade your on-site storage space

Howard Shipping Services Ltd expand their storage with an Aganto temporary warehouse

Howard Shipping Services Ltd is a successful logistics business based in Wolverhampton. They have been reliably providing their freight forwarding solutions to clients since 1956. After over 60 years in business, they decided it was time to expand their operations and turned to Aganto in order to purchase a temporary solution to expand their storage space.

Solution:

The business was looking for additional storage space in order to expand the on-site area they had which could be used to store pallets ready for dispatch. As the logistics industry is incredibly fast-paced the business often has a high demand for their services. The company required the purchase and installation of their temporary structure to be completed within a short timeframe to enable their operations to continue effectively.

Within just 5 weeks Aganto was able to install a 13m x 20m x 5.2m insulated temporary building on their existing concrete yard. This effortlessly increased their onsite capacity, allowing them to increase the number of pallets they can have in storage. The building has enabled Howard Shipping Services Ltd to handle up to 300 additional pallets per day!

Stuart Howard director at Howard Shipping Services Ltd told our team that he experienced “Fantastic service from start to finish and would 100% recommend” Aganto for providing temporary building solutions in the future.
